POLE RETAINS HIS MAT TITLE

Zbyszko Defeats Strangler Lewis at Madison Square Garden

New York, Nov. 29.—Stanislaus Zbyszko of Poland, successfully defended the world's heavy weight wrestling championship at Madison Square Garden last night, defeating Ed (Strangler) Lewis, formerly of Lexington, Kentucky, but now of San Jose, California. Zbyszko won two out of three falls. Lewis won the first fall on a back fall, but Zbyszko won the second fall on a back fall, and the third fall on a back fall. The match lasted 21 minutes and 25 seconds.

Lewis obtained the first fall with a head lock hold after 17 minutes and 30 seconds. The second fall was won by Zbyszko after 21 minutes and 25 seconds. This fall was called when Lewis, in escaping from a half nelson and crotch hold, permitted his shoulders to strike the mat. Lewis protested the referee's decision and left the ring, but was induced by members of the state athletic commission to continue.

The champion won the third fall and match with a double arm lock in 14 minutes and 30 seconds.

The referee's decision in giving Zbyszko the second fall was loudly cheered by a large body of spectators. Last night's victory was the nine hundred and fortieth for the champion in his 23 years of professional competition. He was defeated only once, the late Frank Gotch vanquishing him in a match that lasted six seconds.

DECISIONS OF RAIL BOARD

Several New Cases Also Filed With Commission

The state railroad commission has decided a number of cases and has docketed several new ones. They follow:

 - Application of Moore & Liberty Telephone company to file a reduced rate for multi-party telephone service.
 - Application of Shibley Rural Telephone company of McKenzie to extend their lines.
 - Section 14 filing by the Midland Continental Railroad of tariff carrying class and cream rates between Jamestown and Edgeley.

LANDIS PONDERERS ON RUTH'S CASE

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, will announce his decision in the Babe Ruth case within a day or two. It was learned last night. Ruth violated one of the rules of the major leagues by taking part in a barnstorming trip after the world series.

Judge Landis received the questionnaire he sent Ruth in which the home run hitter's reasons for violating the rules are outlined. The questionnaire sent the other players who took part in the exhibition games have not been received, but since the cases are identical it was thought that Ruth's reply would be sufficient for Judge Landis to determine his decision in all the cases.

INGROWN NAIL

Toughen Skin and Toe Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

"MOST REMARKABLE PERSON I'VE EVER MET"

So Alice Rohe Describes Phyllis Duganne

PHYLLIS DUGANNE

(By Alice Rohe)

New York, Nov. 29.—If you were to ask me, "Who is the most remarkable person you have ever met?" I would reply, "Phyllis Duganne."

Why?

Well, because she is only 21, she is the author of two successful books, she is a constant contributor to the leading magazines, and she is married and is the mother of an adorable baby.

Looking at this slender, almost fragile young woman, with her fluffy bobbed hair, her achievements really overawe one.

Naturally Phyllis Duganne says it is all nonsense that a woman can't have a career and a baby.

"Most of the professional women I know are married, but they haven't babies. They seem to think it puts an end to their careers."

"Why, Janey has really helped me to work. You know babies require set hours and set attention. Up at Turro, where we have just bought an old house, I used to give her breakfast at eight in the morning, get our own breakfast, tie Janey under the pear tree outside my window where I could see her, give her all her toys and then I would work until 12."

"Then I'd bring her in, feed her, put her to bed for her nap, get our luncheon, straighten the house, and work another hour before Janey woke up."

"DADDY" OF UNITED STATES SENATE IN PUBLIC OFFICE FOR 54 YEARS

By NEA Service.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Senator Carroll Smalley Page of Vermont is the oldest man in the senate.

Page will retire March 3, 1923, when his present term expires. He'll be 81 years old and will have rounded out his 54th year in public office.

In the senate, Page is chairman of the naval affairs committee. But just to fill in his odd moments he's—President of two Vermont banks, Treasurer of a manufacturing corporation.

Treasurer of a lumber concern Director of a bank Director of a railway Head of a raw calfskin business.

But, despite all that, the "daddy of the senate" finds time to walk two miles a day and take an hour's auto ride every evening. That's what keeps him fit, he says.

"I feel as well today as I ever did," he says. "But I think when a man's been on the job 54 years, it's time for someone to take him by the coat tails and tell him to let someone else have a chance."

"How do I keep up?" First, good ancestry—a sound natural constitution. Then, abstinence from tobacco and liquor. I'm a teetotaler, you know, but not a fanatic.

"I've been happy in public office, but it's a work of charity. If I'd been in private life I'd have made lots more money and worked less."

Page stated his public career in 1869 when he was elected to the Vermont House of Representatives.

In 1908 he was elected United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Redfield Proctor. In 1911 he was re-elected for a full term and in 1917 again re-elected.

ASK OPINION ON ORDINANCE

Enforcement of Taxicab Ordinance is Deferred

The city commission, meeting last night, instructed the city attorney to get an opinion from the attorney general on the constitutionality of the proposed taxicab ordinance which would require taxicab lines to carry liability insurance. Enforcement of the ordinance was deferred until January 1.

The commission approved a special assessment roll for sidewalk work amounting to $6,125.00 for various walks constructed during the summer.

The following bills were allowed:

FLOOD CONTROL PLANS STATED

Cooperation With Canadian Authorities is Planned

The State Flood Control office has just received the formal report of the War Department Engineers relative to flood control measures in the Red River Valley and their relation to Canada.

The department acted on the request of Secretary Hughes who in turn acted on the joint request of the North Dakota and Tri-State Flood Control Association and the North Dakota legislature. It takes the view that the federal law is ample provision whereby the states can construct its reservoirs and other projects, just as soon as proper district enabling acts are passed by the state, and that this is independent of any action by Canada or the Joint International Commission, in so far as the investigations go as made by the War and Agriculture engineers. However it states that, when the reports of the state's project plans are submitted, if it appears that the projects extensively affect both countries, that joint action will be necessary.

Throughout the report it is frankly assumed that the reservoir and channel improvement methods of flood control now being worked out by North Dakota and Minnesota are the natural and only means of preventing floods.

It states that its final report on the individual projects must await the submission of project plans by the states. The first half of North Dakota's plans are now being published. It will require legislative appropriation to complete them.

CITATION AND NOTICE HEARING PROBATE OF WILL OF J. C. DAVIES, DECEASED.

STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA, County of Burleigh, ss: IN COURT, Before Hon. I. C. Davies, Judge.

I, John S. Collman, Petitioner, vs. Helma Ackerman, Edward Ackerman, Russell Ackerman, Alfred Ackerman, Margaret Decknadel, Cornelius Decknadel, Lulu P. Decknadel, and L. C. Broderick, as Special Guardian of Minor Respondents, Respondents.

The State of North Dakota to the above named respondents and all persons interested in the estate of J. C. Davies, deceased:

You, and each of you, are hereby notified that John S. Collman, the petitioner herein, has filed in the Court a copy of the Last Will and Testament of J. C. Davies, late of the County of Burleigh, in the State of North Dakota, and that the said petition and the proofs of said purported Will will be heard and considered by the Court on Thursday, the 5th day of January, A. D. 1922, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the Court House, in the City of Bismarck, County of Burleigh and State of North Dakota; and

You, and each of you, are hereby cited to be and appear before this Court at said time and place and answer said petition and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

By the Court: I. C. DAVIES.

Dated November 28th, 1921.

Let service of the above citation be made by publishing the same in The Bismarck Tribune once a week for three successive weeks, and by personal service of a copy thereof upon L. C. Broderick, Special Guardian, at least twenty days prior to the date of such hearing, as provided by law.

I, C. DAVIES, Judge of the County Court of Burleigh, North Dakota, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of the citation and notice of hearing as the same appears in the records of said Court.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court at Bismarck, North Dakota, this 28th day of November, 1921.

FREIGHT RATE REDUCTION IS HELD NECESSARY

Adoption of Banking Machinery of the Country to Credit Requirements Asked

CONGRESSMAN SPEAKS

Cincinnati, Nov. 29.—Adoption of the banking machinery of the country to the credit requirements of the farmer and reduction of freight rates on farm products were advocated as the most pressing needs of the agricultural industry in an address here today by Rep. Sidney Anderson, chairman of the joint congressional commission of agricultural inquiry before the 58th annual meeting of the national milk producers' federation.

Pointing to the farmers' need for credit of a maturity corresponding to his turnover and his ability to pay, Rep. Anderson said he favored permitting all existing financial institutions dealing directly with the public including national and state banks to make loans to farmers for periods of three months to six years.

The farmers not only need an immediate downward revision of transportation rates on his products, Rep. Anderson said, but also material reduction in other elements of the spread between the producers and the consumers prices which, he stated, constituted half the latter price. The problem of distribution costs, he added, could not be solved by the farmer alone, but required the co-operation and understanding of all who enter as factors in distribution.

Development of sound co-operative methods by farmers, however, he believed, could contribute much to the solution.

Quick Aid Prevents Fires

It is well to keep a small fire-extinguisher convenient to the kitchen as a first aid to possible fire. These extinguishers are of great value when the fire has first started, but are useless after it has made headway. Just as with a first-aid kit, their value lies in their being at your service at a moment's notice.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

To maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuitty, 616 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. Red Cross Chapter Organize Branches For Relief Work

The Bismarck chapter of the Red Cross is organizing branches throughout the county for the purpose of extending aid to residents of the county who are temporarily in need of clothing or provisions. The chapter has received authority from national headquarters to spend a portion of the money retained in the treasury in this way.

Conditions are such that many thrifty families which have heretofore been comfortably well off are this winter unable to clothe their children so that they may go to school. It is the province of the Red Cross to furnish the necessary garments for these children, and their parents are not accepting charity when they receive this help. They are rather, partaking of a benefit from a society which they and their neighbors have organized. Miss Kolling, Red Cross social worker, is endeavoring to find all cases where this need exists and responsible parties are urged to report to her or to the Red Cross headquarters, 16 Eltinge block, Bismarck, any family which should be receiving Red Cross help.

A distinction should be understood between cases which the county and city care for and those where help should come from the Red Cross. All cases without a provision, such as widows with children or cases where the father is disabled, or people who have for some time past been taken care of by county or city are not subjects for Red Cross aid, and those who have not been in the habit of receiving charity and are now, on account of the depression of the times, unable to maintain their families in a manner consistent with the American standards of living.

YOUR FEATURES SMALL? THEN YOU WILL LIKE THE HELENE KNOT

THE HAIR AS IT LOOKS IN A HELENE KNOT

BY MARIAN HALE
New York, Nov. 30.—Ah, yes, you have those delectably small features—rather regular, too—then your lovely soft, glossy hair must be done Helene-fashion.

The Helene, from the coiffure dictator, Madame Louise of Neale's, is a knot, slightly reminiscent of the once popular psyche, Grecian in line and exceedingly kind to the woman whose nose is quite straight.

For this very simple coiffure the hair is parted in the middle for only a short distance toward the crown of the head and then all drawn back loosely, leaving a soft fringe about the face.

Creators of fashion in hair and hair ornaments say the Helene will be exceedingly fashionable for evening functions this winter because its lines take huge feather combs with—oh, such an air!

The comb, usually some brightly feathered affair sharply contrasting with gown and accessories, is thrust into the hair, just catching the top of the knot.

WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME
My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right. He finds a lot of fault, he does, per usin' it all night. He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read. And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need. He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum. But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He reads about the wedding and he shorts like and get out. He reads the social doings with a most derisive snort. He says they make the papers for the women folks alone. He'll read about the parties, and he'll fume and fret and groan. He says of information it doesn't have a crumb. But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. He's always first to grab it, and he reads it plumb clean through. He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—this is true. He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys. I'm going to take a day sometime and go an' put 'em wise. Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb. But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come. —Unknown.

Dashing Skirts

BY MARIAN HALE.
New York, Nov. 30.—Quite dashing, these skirts which refuse to follow a straight line as to hem and are nearer the ground by several inches on one side.

This suit, by Poiret, is Russian as to line and belting, the latter being strands of metal caught together with jeweled ornaments.

The pockets are roomy things, practical quite like the suit itself, which, made of black quetzal, was designed for wear and warmth.

Both skirt and jacket are loose, easy of outline and are ornamented with silk braid in circular applique.

The collar of krummer may be worn high or laid flat against the shoulders.

Put Naughty M. P.'s In Jail

By NEA Service
London, Nov. 30.—Here's a tip for Congress:

Parliament can punish refractory members by imprisoning them in a little room under the famous Parliament House clock, "Big Ben." And sitting in the dark chamber under the grinding, groaning clockworks and booming bells is real punishment.

Will John, Labor member of Parliament from the West London coal district, has just faced this punishment. John told his constituents in a speech that many M. P.'s came into the House of Commons "three parts drunk" and that "some of them have to hold to their chairs in order to speak."

But John apologized and dodged imprisonment.

Bridge Project Is Explained at Rotary

State Engineer Robinson gave an entertaining address before the Bismarck Rotary this noon at its regular luncheon at the McKenzie hotel upon the Missouri river bridge. He related how the total cost in round figures was about $1,300,000. The history of the agitation from the time the project was first considered was given.

The handicaps under which the bridge contractors had worked was related. The project is practically completed now with the exception of paving and the approaches and roads which will be built in the spring.

Difficulty of financing the project was also explained and how after considerable negotiation the federal government was induced to pay one-half of the increased cost.

MANY NOTED MEN, BOTH RED AND WHITE, USED TO PUT UP AT THE OLD SHERIDAN HOUSE

Only One Indian Maiden's Name Linked With Hotel, Shooting Star

SITTING BULL'S DAUGHTER

The story of the recently burned Sheridan house and of its connection with the "Winning of the West" could not be complete without the names of its many Indian guests. Sometimes the big chiefs were present as honored attendants at some function, in much the same manner that many Indians were present at the reception of Marshal Foch. Sometimes they came to the tables of the Sheridan House as prisoners of the stronger military power of the United States. It was at the Sheridan House that Sitting Bull was entertained when he started on that journey through the east that was to impress him with the power of the white men. It was to the Sheridan House that General Miles brought Chief Joseph after that leader of the Nez Percés had eluded capture for months in that most miraculous retreat with his tribe through lands considered impassible, ending in the brilliant coup by Miles and the capture. It was from here that Joseph started on his trip to the east to be present in the parade in dedication of the tomb of Grant. In that parade he rode beside a man who also had his part in the life of this country, Wm. Cody (Buffalo Bill). It was at the Sheridan House that Gall, the most stately of the Sioux Chiefs and Rain in the Face and Red-Cloud met white men on almost equal terms and it was here that Running Antelope, considered in local annals as the greatest of the Sioux, brought into play his rare powers of leadership and persuasion to make the lot of his people more tolerable. Strangely enough, the name of but one Indian maiden is linked with the hotel, and that is Shooting Star, the daughter of Sitting Bull.

Liked Pale Faces

That the Indians had their attraction for the pale faced maidens or that sometimes dars were made seems to be proved from a story circulated in local circles, but from which the name seems to have been dropped. It was at the banquet given to General Miles at the time he brought Joseph out from beyond the badlands. Miles sat at one end of the table, while the chief, who because of his exploits was at that time the center of the interest of the dining, sat at the other. One of the white maidens at the table was so impressed with the brilliant eyed chief, that she threw her arms around him, kissed him and then placed her ring upon his finger. Joseph, not to be outdone in any act of gallantry, searched among his followers until he found a ring, it happened to be a brass one badly disfigured, which he placed upon the finger of the young lady, also returning her salutation. The names of few women are listed in the stories of the hotel. Of the wives of many officers, Mrs. Col. Coppinger, a daughter of the "Plumed Knight," James G. Blaine, and Mrs. Col. Hazen, later the wife of Admiral Dewey, are the two it is possible to identify at this time.

The Sheridan House saw much of the romance of the gridding of the empire by the Northern Pacific Railroad. In its first days it was the trains arrive each evening and depart each morning, the event being the important one for the day in the city. Then it was decided to bridge the Missouri to meet the part of the road being constructed from the west. The Sheridan House became at this time the center of this westward movement. It was here the big men of the road came to observe progress. It was here the engineers who grappled with the problems of the mud bottom of the Missouri River made their headquarters. Material for the road was brought here and transported across the Missouri one winter on the ice, that natural bridge one winter supporting track and train loads. It was here, with the Sheridan House as headquarters that one day in 1882 the trains were gathered that started westward that their passengers might witness the driving of the golden spike that signalized the meeting of rails touching the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Villard a Visitor

In the days of the building of the Northern Pacific, Henry Villard, the financial genius of the road and for many years its head, was a frequent visitor, and on one or two rare occasions his wife and daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, accompanied him. Herman Ridder, considered at that time the leading journalist of New York and the financial and literary leaders of New York were the guests of the house on one occasion. Hilder spent some time there on one of his trips to the country. Any big occasion on the Northern Pacific could be relied upon to bring a special train load or so of Eastern Leaders men interested in the then present problems of the building of an empire.

Old magazines and many of the editions of eastern papers show the ability as writers of these men. It was before the days when all the happenings of twenty-four hours were rushed to print in the morning paper and many of the happenings bear the imprint of dates three and four weeks and even months after their occurrence, but their style is different from the newspaper rush of today, and many an article in flowing style tells of the incidents enacted in the Sheridan House or hard by.

C. H. GUSTAFSON ISSUES WARNING

Says Farmers Should Be Protected From Fakers

Chicago, Nov. 30.—C. H. Gustafson, president of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., proposed to the National Association of State Marketing Officials here today that it take steps for the protection of farmers from fake co-operative schemes. Mr. Gustafson heads the largest cooperative grain marketing corporation of farmers in the country.

A number of strictly commercial concerns have been floated under the guise of cooperative enterprise, he reported. Frequently these have just enough of the earmarks of cooperative organizations to mislead and misguide, he said.

"The cooperative movement has attained a place and gathered a momentum that was undreamed of a few years ago," Mr. Gustafson declared. "Naturally it has created opportunity for fraud and misrepresentation by men and organizations with selfish and unworthy purposes."

Mr. Gustafson told the state marketing officials that no objection could be made to their discouragement or organizations having for their purpose merely the exploitation of cooperative sentiment.

"I believe that much good might be done," he said, "through a campaign of education that does not directly attack any one by name but which is directed toward driving home certain fundamentals of cooperation."

MANDAN NOTES

Are in Control of Diphtheria Cases

"There are five families quarantined in Mandan with diphtheria, but the epidemic is mild and nothing at all alarming," said Dr. F. E. Bunting, Mandan health officer yesterday morning.

Diphtheria and black diphtheria have appeared throughout the state during the past month. At Casselton over 50 cases were reported with an alarming number of deaths among the youngsters.

Bismarck has a large number of cases, while at Gladstone and Dickinson there are epidemics. One death is reported from Birchville in Stark county.

"We are using every precaution to confine the epidemic," said Dr. Bunting. "Two families were quarantined on Sunday, and it is believed the disease has been checked in Mandan."

This city has contributed one victim, Virginia Rober Pettit, who died a week ago, but her case is the only fatal one that developed. All other patients are suffering from a mild form of the disease and no black diphtheria has developed in Mandan or this section of Morton county.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Peterson of Payette, Idaho, who have been visiting at the E. W. Miller home for several days have left for Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Peterson will receive treatment.

TOKUGAWA TALKS ABOUT SKIRTS!

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING.
Washington, Nov. 30.—"Won't you smoke?" Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, president of the Japanese House of Peers and chief delegate from that country, offered an odd little case of gilt-tipped cigars.

"Ah, you don't smoke?" A shade disappointed. The prince laid down his own cigar.

"Our women smoke with us," he said.

"Are American women quite unlike Japanese?"

"Ah!" Prince Iyesato settled his plump body in a huge plush chair. He stuck a fat brown thumb in either armhole of his waistcoat. His round dark-skinned cheeks almost hid his very bright black eyes in a broad grin.

"You get me into trouble—talk about women!" He laughed.

Notices Skirts.

"But I notice the skirts—the skirts—" Prince Iyesato was confused. Slightly troubled. He leaped over. His hand indicated the region somewhere below his plump knees which scarcely extended beyond the line of his rotund body.

"Short—aren't they?" I assisted.

"Yes—yes!" The prince was grinning broadly. "Very, very! Where that habit come from?" Lines of concern appeared on his wide forehead.

As for the disarmament conference Prince Iyesato says:

"We must be very frank, very sincere, very candid. My colleagues and I wish to and are intent upon doing the best not only for our own country but for the peace of the world. We hope just as Mr. Harding hopes, that it will be successful."

The broad little Japanese was on his feet offering his hand.

"Now in our country," he was smiling, "only a man would call on a high official."

"And you see—" he was grinning plumply again, "they come way down in our country!"

It was the skirt again.

"But don't misunderstand me—I do not say I do not like them so!"

At least, Prince Iyesato is a diplomat.

GOV.-GENERAL LEONARD WOOD AND CAMERON FORBES REPORT ON THE PHILIPPINE SITUATION

Report Says Islands Should Remain In Their "Present General Status"

PEOPLE HAPPY, PEACEFUL

Washington, Nov. 30.—The Philippine Islands should remain in their "present general status" until the people there "have had time to absorb and thoroughly master the power already in their hands," former Major General Leonard Wood, now governor general, and W. Cameron Forbes, former governor general, say in their report to President Harding, based on their six months study of conditions in the islands.

"We are convinced," they say, "that it would be a betrayal of the Philippine people, a misfortune to the American people, a distinct step backward in the path of progress and a discreditable neglect to our national duty were we to withdraw from the islands and terminate our relationship there without giving the Filipinos the best chance possible to have an orderly and permanently stable government."

"We feel that with all of their many excellent qualities, the experience of the past eight years, during which they have had practical autonomy, has not been such as to justify the people of the United States in relinquishing supervision of the government of the Philippine Islands, with drawing their army and navy and leaving the islands a prey to any powerful nation coveting their rich soil and potential commercial advantages."

These observations of the investigators are contained in the "general conclusions" and "recommendations" made in the report, which was made public today. The complete report, covering 100 typewritten pages, will be made public later. The "general conclusions" are as follows:

People Happy

"We find the people happy, peaceful and in the main prosperous and keenly appreciative of the benefits of American rule."

"We find everywhere among the Christian Filipinos the desire for in-general status of the Philippine Islands continue until the people have had time to absorb and thoroughly master the powers already in their hands.

"We recommend that the responsible representatives of the United States the governor general, have authority commensurate with the responsibilities with his position, in case of failure to secure the necessary corrective action by the Philippine legislature we recommend that Congress declare null and void legislation which has been enacted during the period of dividing the authority between the governor general and the Philippine senate in the confirmation of appointments that the president of the United States be authorized to make and render the final decision."

"We recommend that under no circumstances should the American government permit to be established in the Philippine Islands a situation which would leave the United States, in a position of responsibility without authority."

GERMAN-SWEDISH RUM-RUNNING

Lots of Boats Being Taken Into Sweden

Stockholm, Nov. 30.—Rum-running into Sweden from Germany has developed into something like a public scandal, say Swedish newspapers. The broken nature of the coast line and the thousands of small islands dotting the sea approaches are all in favor of smuggling enterprise.

The craft engaged in this trade are generally small, fast-sailing schooners, captained as a rule by ex-officers of the Imperial German navy. Many of the skippers bear names well known in the records of submarine activity. Their daring and experience makes it very difficult for Swedish coastguards to stop them.

From Reval, Rostock, Stettin, Lubek and other German ports these vessels put to sea, their cargo always consigned, according to the ship's papers, to some Finnish port. Once among the rocky archipelago of eastern Sweden, the cargo is landed piecemeal after nightfall on the rocks, from which it is later removed by accomplished ashore who have a widely ramified organization for the island distribution of the goods.

This illicit traffic is said by Swedish papers to be enormous. The papers are full of stirring stories about smugglers and their doings. They remain outside the territorial waters cruising about until their friends seize their chance to rush out in fast motor boats, often in a heavy gale, tranship the liquor and disappear in the dangerous labyrinth of the archipelago.

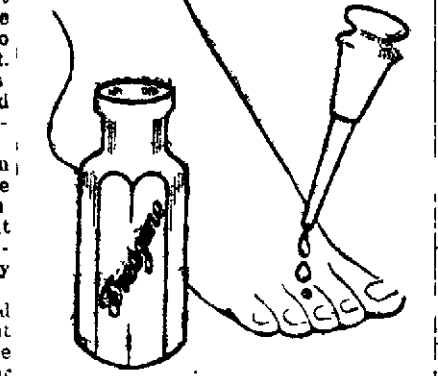

Lately the police have started a scheme to beat the rum-runners at their own game. The other day a police boat, camouflaged as a smuggling craft, boarded a German schooner and loaded up to the gunwale from the schooners hold, unconscious of the fact that the schooner was just outside the territorial limit. When the policemen tried to leave the schooner without paying, the smuggler, threatened to throw them overboard and there was nothing for them but to pay for the liquor.

In another case, the correspondent was told, a gale blew up soon after the coast guards had boarded a ship which happened to be within the three mile limit and, owing to the dangerous coast, the ship had to put out to sea, taking the Swedish guards away to Germany.

In Sweden and in Finland many of the coast population get their living by smuggling and refuse to go fishing and carry on their legitimate trades. In Finland, where total prohibition prevails, conditions are even worse than in Sweden. Fishing there has entirely ceased. It is said, because rum-running is far more profitable business.

GERMAN WORKER GETTING BETTER PAY SINCE WAR

100 Marks a Day Considered Fair Wage For Working Man

Coblenz, Germany, Nov. 30.—Working men in most parts of Germany are said now to be receiving better wages everything considered than prior to the war, and working shorter hours. This is particularly true of the occupied areas, according to American army officers who in their line of duty have come in contact with the German working classes.

That the workman is able to live better under present conditions is due, in a large measure, to the fact that strict regulations of food prices have been enforced by German authorities and has prevented shopkeepers from boosting the cost of the necessities of life, despite depletion in the value of the mark. The regulations apply chiefly to use of meat, potatoes and other staples produced within the country.

Many luxuries have increased in price, especially within the last few weeks when the mark took a tumble; but the currency fluctuation has not materially affected food in the markets patronized by the working classes.

One hundred marks a day is considered a fair wage for the average working man, skilled workmen and miners receiving considerably more, some as high as 200 marks a day, while a common laborer makes but 50 or 60 marks for eight hours.

Professors in the universities and school teachers maintain that they have not fared so well as the working man, receiving on an average of less than 80 marks a day.

Since the war, the Germans do not eat as much meat as formerly, potatoes forming the principle article of food. Dark bread in three pound loaves is sold for 7 marks, this being a mixture resembling rye bread as made in America. It is considered very wholesome and it is eaten by many Americans, among them Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of the American forces in Germany, who has it on his table at home at every meal.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

WHY WE AGE
Our bodies age in winter, but not in summer. This belief is advanced by a doctor who writes for the London Times.

According to his theory, a person would never grow old if he lived in the perpetual summer of the south.
However, the theory has a certain amount of truth.
Nothing ages the human body quite as rapidly as a sedentary life—sitting about, especially indoors, without exercise. That is the rut which the average person has a tendency to fall into.

Your body constantly is collecting various toxins, or impurities of a poisonous nature. Nothing can eliminate these poisons except exercise and fresh air.
A person living in the northern states gets a fair amount of outdoor life in summer. But in winter he makes himself a prisoner of the indoors, rarely venturing out into the cold unless the trip is compulsory.

In the south, there is a languor in the air—the outskirts of the tropical aversion to effort.
Balance the year up, and the south is much like the north. After 12 months, no matter where you live in civilization, you look back and know that you "ought to get out more."

The practice of taking a Saturday afternoon off, for exercise, is unscientific because it is in the nature of a spurt.
It is like neglecting a machine for a week, then giving it a thorough oiling and overhauling.
The machine should be oiled daily. So, also, the body. Poisons are collecting in the system daily, and something should be done daily to eliminate them.

Physical exercises at home are not sufficient, for they are monotonous, which makes them less beneficial than something that is interesting and involves sport.

The greatest health curse in America is that we have become a nation on wheels. We "get out the old bus" even for a half-block trip to the grocery. This already is making inroads on the national health. Unless it is checked, unless Americans return to brisk walking and lots of it, we shall become a race of weaklings.

Health and efficiency depend largely on the use of Shanks' mare—the legs. A person located geographically so that walks can be taken in cold air and through the snows is missing some of the real joys of life if he stays indoors and rides when he goes out.

PRESENTS
Getting your Christmas presents ready? Pack them carefully. Use plenty of string, wrapped tightly, tied in knots that will not slip. Don't leave edges of paper sticking out so it will tear if caught when another package hits it.
A porter, asked if an old trunk would stand a trip across the continent, raised it to level of his waist, dropped it and said, "It'll last to St. Louis." Then he lifted it over his head and slammed it to the platform. "Yep," he informed, "it won't break open."

Christmas packages come in a flood and get a lot of throwing around. Keep that in mind, when packing.

YOUR PHILOSOPHY
You, at some time or other in your life, have sat late at night before a fireplace with a group of friends. Conversation drifted into an exchange of philosophical views—why we are here on earth, why so many fail, and what constitutes success.
Out of such discussions, like a mocking jinni, rises a glaring truth—that every individual develops a personal philosophy of life to fit his degree of success or failure.
Aesop's fox, who could not leap high enough to pluck the grapes, comforted himself with "The grapes are sour."
The man who has accumulated so much money that it makes him uneasy, has for his alibi: "It doesn't matter how much wealth a man has, as long as he doesn't misuse it."
Mrs. Wiggs of the cabbage patch, in dire poverty, hypnotized herself into a philosophy that she was happier without riches.
Socrates and his soap-box orators, not having much material wealth, philosophized that nothing matters except pure intellect.
The prize in this line goes to the celebrated Athenian philosopher-loafer who, when a king heard his wisdom and promised him any gift he wanted, answered, "Then step to one side. You are obstructing my sunlight."

One of the finest temperance lectures of all time was delivered in Kansas by a speaker so drunk he almost had to be propped up.
Actually, he did not believe in temperance, otherwise he wouldn't have kept the distilleries working over him.
But, realizing that he was not of normal temperance, he orated his "don't-drink" philosophy, as an alibi for his failure, and hypnotized himself into believing that he really believed it.

Similarly, you are apt to hear a great speech on honesty, by a man who wouldn't hesitate at robbing an orphan asylum.

This development of elastic philosophies, to fit personal failure, is a dangerous form of alibi.
Unless a man constantly guards himself, he is apt to fall into a state of auto-hypnosis in which he shoulders the blame, for his short-comings, to something other than the real cause, which is—himself.

CHILDREN
There is as much child labor on farms as in factories, mines and stores. This is all right, a good thing for the child, as long as the work is in the nature of chores, within reasonable bounds. It becomes an evil when the child is overworked.
Where should the line be drawn? Answer, by Dr. Edward N. Clopper, of the National Child Welfare Committee:
"Child labor is the employment of a child under 18 years of age at any task, with or without pay, under the direction or independently of others, which deprives him of proper amount of schooling, training, recreation and healthy development."

HOW THE AMERICAN VALUATION PLAN WOULD OPERATE

Students of the tariff question are bringing to light some interesting matter based on their analysis of the operation of the American valuation plan in the tariff bill. The table below, with rates on cotton, woolen and silk goods, gives an insight into the proposed method of assessing duties by which one rate of duty is named in the tariff bill and another rate of duty is put upon the goods when they appear at the custom house:

| | Averaged ad valorem rates Fordney bill 1921 | Apparent as written | Actual American valuation |
|---|--|------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Cotton Manufactures—(not including carpets, handkerchiefs and wearing apparel): | | | |
| Woven goods (including plain and fancy cloths and pile fabrics (including tapestries).... | 23.93 | | 49.4 |
| Other manufactures (known as "cotton small wares")..... | 23.6 | | 48.9 |
| Laces, etc..... | 45.0 | | 135. |
| Silk Manufactures—(not including handkerchiefs and wearing apparel): | | | |
| Woven fabrics..... | 31 | | 60-74 |
| Laces, embroideries, etc..... | 42 | | 138 |
| All other manufactures..... | 31 | | 60-74 |
| Wool Manufactures—including felt goods (except carpets and wearing apparel): | | | |
| Felt goods..... | 44 | | 73.3-236 |
| Woven fabrics..... | 44-58 | | 73.3-236 |
| Laces..... | 42 | | 138 |
| All other manufactures..... | 25 | | 52.5 |

Mr. Fordney and other supporters of the novel plan have pointed out that the rates are low, and in most instances they are lower than the Payne-Aldrich rates, but the real rates are far above those of any other tariff bill of which anybody ever conceived.

Of course, the effect of this would be simply to bar imports altogether, turing the American market over to the domestic manufacturer and allowing him to name the price for his products unrestricted by competition.

We append another table showing the increase in rates over the Payne-Aldrich bill and the increase over the present tariff bill that would be put into effect by the American valuation clause:

| | From Merchandise | Payne Present |
|---|-------------------|---------------|
| Enamel ware, wash basin.... | 161 | 320 |
| Umbrella frames..... | 153 | 263 |
| Kid gloves (ladies')..... | 161 | 275 |
| Shantung silk, summer, dating ($1.75 yd.)..... | Same | 544 |
| Cotton, embroidery..... | Switzerland 21 | 78 |
| Cotton, lace..... | Germany 78 | 78 |
| Imitation pearl necklace..... | France 700 | 700 |
| Artificial silk brand..... | England 147 | 398 |
| Medicines, non-alcohol..... | Switzerland 56 | 35 |
| Men's collars..... | Switzerland 1,115 | 710 |
| Scissors..... | Ireland 14 1/2 | 6 1/2 |
| Pocketknives, "B y Scout"..... | Germany 32 | 59 |
| Surgical instruments, artery..... | Germany 11 | 163 |
| Smoker's pipes..... | France 352 | 917 |
| Furniture, willow..... | Belgium 102 | 143 |
| Baskets, willow..... | Belgium 69 | 203 |
| Plain glass stemware, 9-oz. goblet..... | Belgium 91 | 167 |
| | | 66 2/3 150 |

Many honest men supporting the American valuation clause have been deceived, no doubt, by the figures furnished them to the effect that rates of duty are decreased. And so they are, as named in the bill, but the actual working of the law registers an increase in rates in many instances to almost unbelievable figures.
The result as stated will be to bar imports and immediately advance prices on all products affected.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

"NORTHERN LIGHTS" EXPLAINED
Non-Magnetic Ship Establishes Facts About Aurora Borealis
BY HERWARD CARRINGTON
Scientist and Author
The S. S. "Carnegie" has just returned from a trip round the world, which it has taken several years to complete bringing with it valuable data as to the magnetism of the earth.
This little vessel was especially built, and not a single piece of iron was on board—not a knife not a nail—which might influence the magnetic lines of the earth by its presence. This expedition was rendered possible by the Carnegie Institution Foundation, and several years have been occupied in a systematic study of the magnetic lines of force in our globe.
Much valuable material has thus been collected, which it will take a long time to work over and publish. A preliminary account of some of the simpler elements of the earth's magnetism may, however, render the full report, when issued, more intelligible to the average reader.
The "Magnetic Pole."
We know that there are two "magnetic poles" in the world, a north pole and a south pole which do not correspond with the true geographical poles. The north magnetic pole in 1831. It was then about 1,400 miles distant from the true north pole, 1,000 miles from the true south pole. The south magnetic pole is about 1,000 miles from the true south pole.
Lines of magnetic force run across our earth, from the magnetic equator, to the north and south magnetic poles. The magnetic equator lies near the true equator but runs both north and south of it, and crosses the latter in at least four places.
Starting from this equator, lines of force run north and south just as you can see them, by means of iron filings, issuing from a horse-shoe magnet. These lines of force influence magnetized steel causing it to point due north and south; and this is the basis of the "compass" in common use.
These lines of magnetism, on the earth, have lately been shown to explain many hitherto unaccounted-for terrestrial phenomena, such as the Aurora Borealis. The sun is constantly shooting off, into space, millions of tiny particles known as corpuscles.
These would naturally hit our earth in greater numbers near the equator, since this is the part of the earth most exposed to their influence. These corpuscles are caught, by the magnetic lines of force, and carried towards the north and south poles, getting nearer and nearer the surface of the earth all the time.
At a certain distance from the poles they find themselves in an atmosphere resembling that in high vacuum tubes (such as the X-ray tubes), and they then begin to give forth the shifting and darting lines of the so-called "Cathode rays."
It is these shifting and darting lines of the Cathode rays which account for the Aurora Borealis, as well as other phenomena which have long puzzled scientists; and the connection, now traced, between the sunspots and the Aurora can thus be shown also, since a connection naturally exists between these spots and the energy of the corpuscles emitted by them.
These investigations, therefore, may be said to have thrown a new light upon many odd facts, and served to explain them in a satisfactory manner.

SPOOKS
(By Florence Boerner.)
When I was just a little kid my mother used to say,
That if I wasn't mighty good, and minded her each day,
A big, black spook would catch me when I went upstairs to bed,<
And never bring me back again until I was plumb dead.
She told me awful stories of the things that spook would do,
He beat, and bite and scratch me, and he'd stick to me like glue;
And goodness gracious, I was scared, I'd be in bed awake,
And even say stairs all by myself I'd shake, and shake and shake.
And, even since I'm grown-up, when the wind begins to shriek,
And sets the windows rattling with an intermittent squeak,
Altho I'm not exactly scared, if truthful words be said,
I feel a wee bit safer when I cover up my head.

What Manners Tell
By Winona Wilcox
(Letters to Lovers)
The manners of some girls are made to please men. How a kind of modern familiarity betrayed a girl and a man is related by a Middle-aged matron:
"I chanced to sit opposite my husband in a crowded street car. At a stop, a pretty painted girl, not knowing me, tripped the length of the car to get my husband's attention. She leaned down, put her face close to his, whispered, giggled and slapped him coquettishly—on the knee!
"I know I turned white. I felt ill.
"My husband flushed guiltily. Passengers in the car grinned. Suddenly I saw my husband as one of the type I despise, 'a gay old sport'.
"He says I am acting silly about a mere incident; that the girl, who works in his office, never had been familiar before; that she is one of the flip kind, without home training in manners, or any background.
"I say that it was the business of an ancient grandfather like himself to discourage the familiarity of vulgar, ignorant little girls.
"I am a student of psychoanalysis and I know that it is the careless acts which betray habits. The girl did not indulge in a sudden spasm of familiarity with an old man.
"The hurt of it is deep. I've as always considered the man I love as respectable.
"The question of the manners of a young comes again in a letter from a girl man:
"You can't tell much about a girl from her looks. They all buy the same rouge. From hat to shoes, any girl can camouflage elegance.
"But watch their manners to their mothers. Or to any old lady.
"They never camouflage their manners to their own sex. A man can place them that way.
"When it comes to picking out a wife, I say, 'Watch how a girl treats the older women!'"

BEAUTY IS HARMONY
There can be no harmony, and therefore no beauty, in a home in which the wife and mother is cross and irritable and dull-spirited. Often as not, disease is at the bottom of such a condition.
Let the woman who is always tired and who suffers from low spirits and mysterious aches and pains, only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She will then see that the beauty and harmony will be restored to her home with the return of her health and good spirits.

POETS' CORNER
THE PROVEN COW
(Contributed)
The proven cow is a thing of charm,
She lifts the mortgage from the farm—
She makes the farmer's life more sweet
And sets him down on easy street.
Where'er the proven cow is seen,
A country prosperous is Queen,
And dairy men in joyful ranks
Are packing money in the banks.
Why plug along the same old way
With cows you never can make pay!
And putting up the bankrupt wall
When they refuse to fill the pail!
There is a better method now—
The method of the proven cow
This critter always earns her keep
And piles up riches while you sleep.
She pays the taxes and the rents
And here in our good country, gents,
We have the climate and the feed,
And all the conditions that we need.
So let us all be boosters now—
And sing the praises of this cow
Let's get our coin from the Proven Bovine
The safest money-making scheme
To Walt Mason I must bow—
And if he will kindly allow
I'll add a line—a modern line
To his warning as told above
It isn't Breed—
—Alone!
It isn't Feed—
But three things, required are
FEED—BREED—WEED!
To really feed—first be liberal—feed enough
To truly breed—have a high ideal
To know how to weed is a dairy-man's need

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE.
Two cups granulated sugar, 1-4 cup corn sirup, 2-3 cup milk, 2 squares bitter chocolate, 1 tablespoon butter, 1-2 pound marshmallows, 1 cup English walnut meats, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Put sugar, sirup and milk in sauce pan and let stand until sugar is melted. Shave chocolate into mixture. Put over fire and bring to boiling point. Do not stir. Let boil two minutes and add butter. Cook until a soft ball is formed in cold water. Remove from fire. Line a long pan with marshmallows, sprinkle with nuts. Let fudge cool slightly in pan of cold water while beating. Fudge must be quite warm when poured over the marshmallows.

Graphite is mixed with pipe clay to give various degrees of hardness in pencils.

CLARA HUMPERT.

By NEA Service.
Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 29.—"They crossed me in love."
That provoked Richard Champlain to shoot to death his father and step-mother, Adrian B. and Florence Champlain, Prosecutor Riley L. Crane says the 22-year-old youth swore in a confession.
Champlain wanted to marry Clara Humpert, 19, rural school teacher. His parents, who has always given him everything he wanted, opposed him in this and tried to break up the match.
Then, according to Crane, Champlain said he killed them and burned their home to cover up the deed.
"I'm not afraid of death," the prosecutor says the youth told him. "I've killed many a man in France. I've shot them and stuck them with bayonets. I knew I had to get them or they'd get me!"
Champlain is a veteran of the "lost battalion" of Argonne Forest fame.
"Anything I wanted I always got from my parents," Champlain told the officers, "except this one thing."
TRIBUNE WANTS—FOR RESULTS

DEPTHS AND SHALLOWS

BY WINONA WILCOX

How do men regard the woman who forgives them a great wrong?
This unique question was suggested by paragraphs like these:
No. 1. The man I am to marry has been receiving love letters from a girl he used to go with. He ended the correspondence when I found out about it and he insists upon marrying me. But I am most unhappy.
It seems to me that he must think me very small and altogether lacking in ideals if I take him as a husband after he has deceived me so. We promised to be faithful always and he broke his pledge while no power in the world could have forced me to break mine.
No. 2. My brother's best friend has been making love to me. And I am a married woman. Unexpectedly, he seized me in his arms and kissed me.
Now I am not afraid of him nor of myself. I can manage the situation perfectly. We have had an understanding. He can't see that he has insulted me.
What worries me is this: The man has been a friend of the family for years. Can he possibly have any respect for me when he places me in his office girl. When I discovered it, such a situation?
No. 3. My husband made love to me. He begged me to pass over "the incident." I resent his idea that it ever can be "an incident" to me. He swears that he loves me. If I believe him, and forgive him, how will he regard me? As worthy of devotion? Or as "easy," a wife he can put anything over?
I rather think that only a man "who has been through it" can tell how a man regards the woman he deceives and the one he makes love to unconventionally. But—he never does tell.
I suspect that "respect" doesn't enter into his perspective.
He is thoughtless about any feelings save his own. He doesn't connect the words "respect" or "disrespect" either with the wife he wrongs

TRACTORS TO GO, HORSES, MULES, TO COME BACK

So Says Prof. J. H. Shepperd, of the N. D. Agricultural College

CEASED BUYING TRACTORS

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 30.—North Dakota farmers are turning from tractors to the large heavy type of horses and mules, Prof. J. H. Shepperd, chief of the Animal Husbandry department of the North Dakota Agricultural College, told the annual meeting of the Horse Association of America here today. Prof. Shepperd was one of ten speakers from the ten states of the Central West whose farmers own 44.6 per cent of all the horses and mules in the United States and whose cities use an additional 30.5 per cent of all the horses and mules used in non-agricultural work.

"There is a perceptible turn in the tide in North Dakota toward horses and mules for farm work," Prof. Shepperd told the assembled horsemen, "and an almost complete cessation of the purchase of large tractors and the small tractors that are bought and designed to do work in the belt and serve as 'rough' help in the field when all conditions are favorable to them."

"The National Tractor Show held at Fargo last summer proved very disappointing in attendance and interest, while the State Fair and the local fairs had excellent horse shows, five or six times the numbers shown that there were at the 1920 fairs and the fair attendance did not fall far short of normal. The interest in horses in all our fairs seemed to be much improved."

"The college through its extension department is quietly, month by month, publishing through the Farm Bureau News and general press of the state, facts about the economy and probable future demand for work and breeding stock of draft type. Our animal husbandry extension experts constantly make arguments on the cost of horse and mule work compared with that of tractors and their influence on the markets for feed and forage. We stress the fact that horse power reproduces itself and if the horse force is well managed, need deteriorate little in value before they are marketed. Our state veterinarian and the practitioners in the state have become interested and are working energetically and intelligently and effectively for horse breeding."

"Our county agents have been advised to focus their work by approaching the men with the choicest brood mares and to specifically urge the breeding of these mares to the best stallion which they personally know is available. Their work has seemed to be effective."

"The state will breed a much greater number of mares this coming year than it has for the last two seasons. Our folks like the heavy type of horses and mules."

TWO STATES TO BE CROSSED BY AUTO LINES

John J. Keavin and J. G. Belanger
Open up Firm with Headquarters at Minot, Bismarck

TO RUN TO ABERDEEN

John J. Keavin and J. G. Belanger, of Minot, have formed a partnership in a new transportation firm. The new organization will be known as the Interstate Transportation Co., with offices in Minot and Bismarck. It will conduct a local taxi service in this city as well as continue the service already established at Minot. Mr. Belanger recently returned from the east where he purchased four new Oldsmobile 4-cylinder touring cars with California winter tops for use in the Bismarck local taxi service.

Mr. Belanger has assumed charge of the Bismarck office. This is his second time in Bismarck. In 1906, shortly after coming to the Northwest, Mr. Belanger held a position with the accounting department of the Northern Pacific and he was sent to Bismarck for a few days. The new station was being built at the time.

Mr. Belanger has 27 years of railroad experience to his credit and is thoroughly familiar with the traffic and transportation business. For the last 12 years he has been employed as local and general agent for the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railroad Co. at Minot.

"This new automobile service," said Mr. Belanger, "is going to mean a great deal to travelers who heretofore have been compelled to go a great distance out of their way to make connections at Bismarck and points in South Dakota. We will do everything possible to maintain a thorough service in spite of the winter months ahead."

Max Line.

The new company will make the Minot-Max run twice daily, leaving Minot at 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. every day except Sunday. This will afford travelers an opportunity to connect with Soo line trains at Max, to and from all directions. The firm further proposes to start a through passenger service directly between Minot and Bismarck. This service will begin every second day.

Cars will make the trip from Bismarck to Minot in about 4 1/2 hours on a schedule of one trip each way daily. The time schedule of this run will be announced in a few days. The management further states that it will put in a line from Bismarck to Aberdeen or Moberly, S. D., to connect with the Chicago, Milwaukee &

RAPELJE GETS VICE PRESIDENCY OF N. P. RAILROAD

Appointment of John M. Rapelje, general manager, as vice president in charge of operation and maintenance of the Northern Pacific railroad was announced Monday. The authorization by President Charles Doolittle is effective Thursday.

Mr. Rapelje succeeds W. T. Tyler, made vice president when the railroad was reorganized from Federal control. Mr. Tyler resigned to engage in other business, details of which are near completion.

Vice President Rapelje is distinctly a product of the ranks. He began his railway career in 1879 as a brakeman on the Great Trunk road. Later became a fireman on the Santa Fe and "Every time I look at my little girl's rosy cheeks, my heart goes out in praise and gratitude to Tanlac," said Mrs. Mary Smith, of Peacedale, R. I., a suburb of Providence, recently.

"Until Mary was eleven years of age she always enjoyed good health and had a very happy, fun-loving disposition. However during the past three years she became very thin and frail. She took on a very sallow color, her tongue coated over, she complained of a bad taste in her mouth, dull headaches, and of feeling languid and tired all the time. She lost her sunny disposition and became nervous, irritable and moody. Her appetite got so poor that I had to coax her to eat. Her sleep was fitful, her eyes dull, and her steps so heavy that it seemed she hadn't strength to lift her feet from the floor."

"She had always stood high in her studies, but now her reports were so bad that her teacher called on me to find out why she had gone back so in her lessons. When I asked her why she had failed so in her school work she cried and said she studied as hard as ever, but couldn't seem to remember. Only a mother can understand what I suffered when I saw my daughter slowly, but surely, fading away each day. I could hardly keep back the tears when I looked at her."

"Six months ago we took her out of school, thinking this might help her, but she continued to grow weaker. We were told she would get better when she got older, but I was afraid she couldn't live and have shed many a tear over her condition. In fact, my husband and myself, both, were downright sick from worry over her, and yet, nothing did her any good."

"One day my husband said, 'Why not have Mary try Tanlac?' Each morning I have read in the papers of someone being helped by it and it may be what she needs."

"Well, I had tried everything else, so as a last resort I had Mary try Tanlac and I have felt thankful a thousand times that I did. Before she finished the first bottle she was eating like I have been wanting to see her eat for three years. Now she is the first to the table and the last to leave. She has gained fifteen pounds and is still gaining, and her face is as round and rosy as it ever was. Her eyes sparkle with health, her steps are light, and she is as full of life as a kitten. It does my heart good to hear her running around, singing and laughing and enjoying life, and good health again. My gratitude to Tanlac is unbounded."

"Tanlac is sold in Bismarck by Joseph Breslow and leading druggists everywhere."

St. Paul Ry. When this system is completely organized the Interstate Transportation Co. will be able to furnish direct north and south connections with four transcontinental railroads, viz., Great Northern, Soo Line, Northern Pacific and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

The Bismarck office will be at 303 Broadway.

Put the proper amount of postage on your letters and wrap the parcels carefully. Avoid fancy writing, which causes post-office clerks and letter carriers to stop and study, and thus lose time. Make the address plain and easily read, and always use pen and ink or typewriter and light-colored envelopes, so as to save the eyes of the postoffice clerks. Do not use envelopes of unusual size. The little ones that are so frequently used for cards and notes at Christmas and other holiday times cause an untold amount of trouble and labor, as they will not fit our canceling machines and must therefore be canceled by hand. Because of their size and tendency to slip out of a package, these small envelopes are more likely to be overlooked or lost.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE BOARD OF CITY COMMISSIONERS, MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 22ND, 1921.

The Board of City Commissioners met in regular session Monday evening, November 22nd, 1921, at eight o'clock P. M. Present: Commissioners George Hengler, Larson, and President Lehart. The minutes of the meeting held on November 21st, 1921, were read and approved. On motion of Commissioner Larson, seconded and carried, the bills were allowed as read. The assessment for the transportation of sidewalk during 1921 was read and on motion of Commissioner Hengler, seconded and carried, the same was approved and the City Auditor instructed to levy the cost of the same against the property taxpayers. Mr. Scott Cameron, and Mr. E. T. Murphy spoke on the taxi liability ordinance. On motion of Commissioner Hengler, seconded and carried, enforcement of the same was delayed until January 1st, 1922, and the City Attorney instructed to obtain an opinion from the Attorney General as to the legality of the same. On motion of Commissioner Hengler, seconded and carried, the Board of City Commissioners adjourned to meet again Monday evening, December 5th, 1921.

Attest: M. H. ATKINSON, City Auditor.

Lowering the Cost of Living

Price is not the real test of economy. It is the cost of living. To reduce the cost of living in purchasing goods that are standard that will give you longer service value.

A sure test of quality merchandise. "Do you see it advertised consistently?" If you do, it is good merchandise. If you do not, it is not. When he urges you to buy his product, he is urging you to buy his product. When he urges you to buy his product, he is urging you to buy his product. When he urges you to buy his product, he is urging you to buy his product.

So read the advertisements—read them carefully. They will protect you against fraud and inform you what is new and good—wise buyer. And they save you money by urging you to buy his product only through the medium of the advertisement in every line of merchandise.

MENNONITES ARE LEAVING CANADA TO GO TO MEXICO

Are Now Transferring Property To a Winnipeg Land Company

WILL TAKE $14,000,000

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 30.—The much heralded exodus of old colony church Mennonites from Western Canada to Northern Mexico is to become a reality, for arrangements have been completed whereby an advance party of 1,000 will leave the Hague district in the near future to do pioneer work on their new holdings. There are about thirty different sects of Mennonites and this is a distinct movement from that proposed by one section of Mennonites who have purchased land in South America. An official statement, signed by Bishop Wall, of the Hague district, declares: "Our only objection (to staying in Canada) lies in the fact that the concession granted and ratified by the federal government giving us entire right to conduct our schools 'without molestation or restriction' has now been repudiated." The original charter granted by the government was signed in 1875.

The transfer of property from the Mennonites to a Winnipeg land company is near completion and under the terms of the agreement all land must be vacated by December 1, 1922. The holdings of the Mennonites in the Hague district comprise 85,000 acres.

This deal is also entirely independent of the Mennonite colonies of Swift Current and Manitoba, although these people have already contracted for the purchase of blocks of land in Northern Mexico. When the trek of old colony church sect has been completed a total of 11,000 of these people will have left Canada for Mexico. Another 11,000 will be affected by the move to South America, but it was pointed out, they are not members of the old colony church.

It is estimated that the old colony church members leaving the west will take with them a total of some $14,000,000 in cash, or about $15,000 net cash per family on the average.

"GET YOUR HEART AND HEAD WORKING TOGETHER—THEN GO AHEAD"

That's the New Attitude for Intelligence People, Says Noted Psychologist

(By Ruth Abeling)

New York, Nov. 30.—Heart of you breathlessly whispering "Yes—yes"? Head of you practically insisting "No—no"?

Always viewing things from a different angle—that heart and that head of yours?

But they needn't any more. Head and heart can work together. Miss Mary Sandall, psychologist, New York city, is authority for this statement.

Miss Sandall further adds that usually the heart is a little bit all right, a very good lead, so to speak!

"There was a time," says Miss Sandall, "when just liking to do a thing was enough to make it a sin, and a dislike for doing it clothed it in virtue."

"Different now," says Mary Sandall; "that was too hard a system for intelligent people to live by for many generations."

Finding the Good Things

"So we have evolved a new way of thinking—that is finding the good in the things we like to do and profiting physically, mentally and spiritually by that new attitude."

"Doing something you like to do is fully three times as beneficial as something you do not like to do, though the material profit may seem less."

"We have been too much concerned in the past with acquiring knowledge by the ordinary system of education than by development of mental processes which lead to originality. Originality is a most valuable asset. And no originality can develop if the mind is forced along the old and too often unpleasant lines."

"As for Miss Sandall herself—a blond little person with intense eyes, deep voice and exceeding charm of manner. She has a studio in Carnegie Hall.

"Beginning of my career?" Miss Sandall laughed.

Looked to the Stage

"Well—if I must tell you, I thought the stage was the only place I should really be happy, and so I came here to this very building where my studio is and was told by a specialist in that sort of thing that the stage was not the place for me."

"So I went back to Galveston, Tex., where I was born, and I taught. I began to study psychology and at length taught in a university which was beginning a course in applied psychology."

"I was asked to give lectures for clubs and organizations and finally met a woman from New York." Here Miss Sandall laughed again.

"You know," she said, "that woman promised me all of New York if I'd come here and give some lectures. So I came," still laughing, "and found the woman had gone to Europe and I was here, all of my bridges burned behind me and just one pupil!"

"So I rented a studio and put up my little sign and finally, tap—tap at the door, someone wanted to know what I was doing in here. I always told them: they were interested and told others who became interested until—now!" finished Miss Sandall.

Is a Lecturer

And "now," for Miss Sandall, who dared New York with only one pupil and a very thorough knowledge of psychology, means—lectures for clubs, organizations, recognized schools, and classes every day.

And a lively studio in the very building in which, a number of years ago, she was sent away from, disappointed, when she applied for a stage career.

SANDALLISMS

It is not necessarily the acquisition of knowledge but original thinking that makes new brain cells.

It is not how much we know but what we are as a result of what we know which counts.

It is not statistical information but personality which is the great power in life.

Stiff? Sore?

A lame back, a sore muscle or a stiff joint often is considered too lightly by the sufferer. NEUTRALITY OF ALAND ISLANDS

Being Discussed By 10 Different Countries

London Nov. 30.—The text of the convention for the neutralization of the Aland Islands, received here, shows that the signatory countries to it are Denmark, Estonia, Poland, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Lithuania and Sweden.

Besides prohibiting the establishment in the islands of any military, naval or air basis, it also forbids, with certain exceptions, the entrance of war vessels of any power into the waters of the archipelago, except for peaceful passage through them. Finland, is, however, permitted to send, as a temporary measure, any forces required for the maintenance of order.

In time of war, the archipelago is strictly neutralized but in the event of warfare affecting the Baltic, Finland is permitted to lay mines in the waters of the group provided she immediately informs the Council of the League of Nations.

For the purpose of giving effect to the convention or meeting any violations of it, the contracting powers agree to have resort to the Council of the League of Nations which shall, in case of need, summon a conference of the contracting powers, whether members of the League or not.

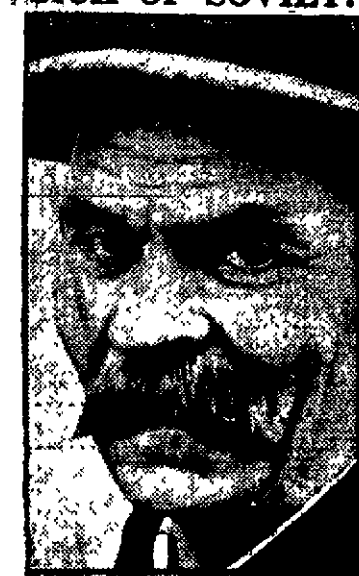

Falling unanimously, each and any of the contracting powers are authorized to take such measures as may be recommended by the council by a two-thirds majority, the vote of any power accused of the violation of the convention not being reckoned.

In the event of the neutrality of the islands being threatened by a sudden coup de main, Finland is authorized to take the necessary measures in the neutral zone for repelling the aggressor until such time as the contracting powers are ready to intervene for the purpose of securing respect for the neutrality of the islands.

The disposition of the Aland Islands, described as "the Gibraltar of the North," has been the subject of contention since the world war. For centuries they belonged to Sweden through its control of Finland but they fell into the hands of Russia when Russia absorbed Finland. Sweden then became fearful of Russia's militarism, as control of the Aland Islands by Russia rendered Stockholm liable to bombardment.

After the world war Sweden appealed to the Peace Conference at Versailles to have possession of the islands decided on the principle of self-determination and consented to their neutralization.

The question was referred to the League of Nations which appointed a judicial commission to investigate the subject. The commission recommended that the islands be placed under the control of Finland but their neutrality should be guaranteed by the powers.

HOLIDAY MENUS

English Christmas Dinner Elaborate

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Until we study the menus and recipes of other peoples we Americans little realize how simple our meals are. The English Christmas dinner is amazing in its array of meats and side dishes.

A typical dinner in the ordinary English household would begin with soup, never with a fruit cocktail, and goes on through fish, an entree, the "remove," roast, salad, sweets, savory, dessert, and finally black coffee.

The menu is long and complicated.

Mock Turtle Soup

One-half a calf's head, 2 1-2 quarts second stock, 1 onion, 1 carrot, 1 turnip, 1 strip celery, bouquet-garni,

12 peppercorns, 2 cloves, 1 blade mace, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1-4 pound lean beef, 1-4 pound lean veal, white 1 egg, salt.

Soak the head 24 hours in salt and water, changing the water often. Save brains and tongue for some other purpose. Remove bones and tie meat in a cheesecloth. Put bones and meat in a kettle, cover with cold water and add 1 tablespoon salt.

Let boil up, strain off water and wash head in clear cold water. Return meat and bones to kettle, add stock and 1 dessertspoon salt. Boil up and skim well. Add vegetables diced, herbs and seasoning. Boil for two and a half hours. Strain through cheesecloth and cool stock. Remove fat.

Put stock in kettle with the egg white and crushed shell and the coarsely chopped beef and veal moistened with a little cold water.

Stir well and bring to the boiling point. Simmer 20 minutes.

Strain into a fresh sauce pan, add lemon juice and about 3-4 cup of the meat of the head cut in small, neat pieces. Taste and add more salt and pepper if necessary. Let boil up once and serve. This will serve eight persons.

Chicken Creams

One pound raw chicken free from skin and bone, 1-2 cup thick rich white sauce, 1-2 gill double cream, 1 egg, salt and pepper, truffles.

Chop chicken finely and pound until smooth, adding egg and white sauce gradually. Pass through a sieve. Whip cream and fold into last mixture. Season with salt and pepper. Fill eight very small buttered molds. Steam about 25 minutes, until firm.

Remove from molds onto small plates, garnish with truffles and serve with a white sauce to which the yolk of an egg has been added.

The sauce should not be poured over the creams but served in a dish.

Christmas Pudding

One and one-third cups light brown sugar, 1 cup cleaned currants, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup chopped suet,

1 cup mashed potato, 1-2 cup grated raw carrot, 1 cup browned bread crumbs, 1 cup flour, 2 ounces shredded candied orange peel, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon grated nutmeg, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk.

Use coarse scale crumbs from the soft part of the loaf. Spread on a piepan and brown in the oven. Scald milk and pour over crumbs. Let stand half an hour. Mix dry ingredients, add eggs well beaten and the softened crumbs. Mix thoroughly and turn into two well buttered molds. Steam four hours. Serve with lemon sauce.

Black Coffee.

Allow 3 tablespoons ground coffee to each cup of boiling water. Scald coffee pot and put in coffee. The coffee may be tied in a large cotton cloth bag. Pour boiling water through bag, pressing with a silver fork. Pour off a cup and pour back through bag. Do this two or three times. Cover closely and let stand
